

Research in Nursing

Research Coordination

Definition, Objectives, and Functions

Definition

The Research Committee is defined as the collegiate organ which is plural and consultative, and integrated by internal and external institutional representatives with interest and commitment to the development of nursing research, who contribute with their experience and dedication to accomplish the institutional policies on research.

Objectives

- To act as a collegiate counseling body of the National School of Nursing and Obstetrics regarding activities of research
- To foster the definition of research priorities in agreement with the institutional policies
- To maintain the links with other similar groups
- To assure the application of the ethical and legal principles which regulate research involving human beings
- To contribute to the quality and consistency of the research projects which are generated in the National School of Nursing and Obstetrics

Functions

- To define the functioning guidelines and observe and favor its fulfillment
- To support the actions which foster the research system in the National School of Nursing and Obstetrics
- To review, evaluate, and propose the research projects which are sent to the Committee
- To contribute to the design of policies and strategies for the development of research
- To extend statements on the methodological, legal, and ethical adequacy of the projects
- To contribute to the design of policies and strategies to the development of research

- To establish cooperation relationships for the development of research with peers in the academic environment as well as the health system
- To represent the National School of Nursing and Obstetrics by request of the Direction in activities of diffusion of research
- To keep track of the development of the scientific productivity in the National School of Nursing and Obstetrics

Contact

Mtra. Rosa A. Zárate Grajales; Research Coordinator; WHO-PAHO-UNAM-ENEO
Collaborating Center Coordinator

Telephone Monday through Friday 09:00 to 14:00 and 16:00 to 17:00;

555-573-0698 ext 281 and 289

